The way people are questioning their grocers about the adulteration of baking powders has stirred up that part of the mercantile community to taking more care in their selection of manufactured atticles. The consumers are rapidly cheap brands and prize goods, as well as some high-priced brands advertised as "Absolutely Pure," contain either Alum,

Lime, or Ammonia, and some of them all of these adulterants.

A simple test of the purity of baking from Frederick Grupy, the man who being arrested here as a tramp "confessed" that he was a party to the murder of the Rahway girl; that the killing presence of Ammonia in most cases in-dicates that Alum is used, as nearly all powders composed principally of Starch, Alum, and Terra Alba boil into a thick, dirty paste. It is important for housewives to know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from Ammonia, Alum, Lime, and all adulterations whatsoever; also, that it is healthful and economical-really the most perfect made.

Besides its special work of fostering and building up the interests of its church people and always containing something excellent tists, it has recently acquired a special general value by the introduction of a weekly essay or treatise on some popular current subject, always totally leaving out politics.

These articles are either the work of the editor or are contributed by the most learned, able, and widely-known writers in this and other States, and are as forceful, discursive, and interesting as the articles that appear in the leading magazines of the day.
